China, Mongolia, and the USSR had agreed to construct the Chining (N28-26, E 121-24)-Wulanpachu Railroad. The section of this railroad from Chining to Erhlientuan (0059/6647/3008) was completed in December 1954. c. The first micro-tool machine factory had been established in Harbin. 1 d. The nation's first automobile factory had undertaken mass production. The USSR had been helping China establish the 100-billion-square-meter International Friendship Farm for rice production. 6. Other reports from Kwangtung Province described the following developments: a. Manpotou in T'aishan (N 22-16, E 112-46) had become a hydroelectric power station. b. With the completion of the new river at Tuhu (N 22-04, E 112-57) the whole river had become navigable by February 1955. A typhoon shelter capable of sheltering hundreds of boats would be completed soon in Tungshihhsu (N 24-40, E 115-58). Trade communications in the Tuhu area would be facilitated by these projects. c. Industrial improvement in machine shops and among manual laborers had been introduced by the "elder Russian brother"; many large houses in Canton had been converted into factories. The Canton Cement Factory had become the main supply for the whole nation. d. The Nan Fang Mansion, opened on Mational Memorial Day, had ll stories with 25X1 an elevator.1 25X1 Comment. The Nan Fang Mansion was formerly the Sun Company, Ltd. Destroyed by fire during World War II, it has been redecorated by the Chinese Communist government. 25X1
